

COUZENS IS GIVEN SEAT OF NEWBERRY

Detroit Mayor, Product of Ford's Corporation
Goes To U. S. Senate

BRILLIANT CAREER

He is Responsible For Detroit's Municipally Owned Street Rys.

LANSING, Mich., Nov. 29. — James Couzens, philanthropist, manufacturer and mayor of Detroit, who rose from a "news butcher" on the Erie & Hudson to one of the greatest financial and political leaders in Michigan, was today named by Governor Groesbeck to fill the vacancy created in the United States senate by the resignation of Truman H. Newberry.

Couzens was born in Chatham, Ont., August 23, 1872. After graduating from the Chatham high school he became a news butcher on the Erie & Hudson R. R.

In his spare time he studied telegraphy, until he qualified as an operator and accepted a position with the same company. Then he took a position with the Michigan Central R. R. and worked as telegrapher until 1897, when he entered the employ of the Malcomson Coal Co., as bookkeeper.

When Malcomson joined the Ford Motor Co., Couzens went along, still as a bookkeeper.

His ability was quickly recognized. He was promoted to sales manager and then to general manager. Later came his appointment as vice president. This post he resigned in September, 1915, but still remained a director until September, 1919. In 1915 Couzens sold his interest in the company to Mr. Ford, giving the motor king the (Continued on Page Ten)

MRS. HARDING ILL, SO THANKSGIVING PLANS ABANDONED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29. — Because of Mrs. Harding's illness, plans for a regular Thanksgiving observance at the Whitehouse tomorrow have been definitely abandoned.

Instead, the president and Mrs. Harding, with possibly a few intimate friends will pass the day quietly and simply, with no formal festivity of any description.

The president intends to spend most of the day in the sick room with Mrs. Harding.

While Mrs. Harding's condition is said by her personal physician, Brig. Gen. Charles E. Sawyer, to be continually improving, she is not yet able to partake of solid foods or to stand the strain of entertaining friends. For that reason there will be no frills tomorrow.

Despite the president's edict for strictest simplicity, the Whitehouse has been besieged with holiday gifts from friends all over the nation.

For the Thanksgiving dinner, the president already has received four turkeys, two possums and one sixty pound pig.

Whitehouse attaches are extremely optimistic concerning Mrs. Harding's improvement. She is able, according to friends to sit up for rather long periods each day, tho she has not yet recovered sufficiently from her long, serious illness to leave the sick room.

She spends some time in reading, and occasionally sees some of her closest friends. She has been instructed by Gen. Sawyer to take things easily for a time in order not to over exert and break down her strength.

Mrs. Harding's complete recovery may not be rapid, it is said, tho she has displayed marked cheerfulness and fortitude.

Woman Prize Dairyman

EXETER, Eng., Nov. 29 — The Silcock Gold Challenge Cup, the English award for the greatest advances in dairying has been won by a woman, Mrs. James Putnam, who has a herd of British Friesian cattle.

Light Routs Spooners

BARNESVILLE, O., Nov. 29 — Spooners are panned. The First Presbyterian Church has placed lights above its steps which, formerly, were so dark that they were popular places for "petting" parties.

COMMANDER EVANGELINE BOOTH OF SALVATION ARMY POINTS TO PROHIBITION IN THANKFULNESS

Coshocton Hunters' Luck Answers The Jollier's Question

"What is worse than discovering you have hunted all day with blank shells?" asked The Jollier the other day.

There may be nothing worse, but here is something just as bad.

J. E. Baker and H. A. Parrish, of the Home Baking Co. started out Tuesday afternoon on a hunting trip. When they reached Warsaw they discovered they had forgotten their shells. Entering the Speckman store in Warsaw they purchased shells, chatted a while with the storekeeper, and proceeded on their hunting trip.

Reaching their chosen hunting grounds, they unpacked their guns and prepared to chase the elusive rabbits. It was then they discovered that they had again left their shells behind. It is reported that their hunting trip has been indefinitely postponed.

JERSEY MURDER CASE DROPPED; NO INDICTMENTS

"Pretty Rotten" Comment
Of Mrs. Mills' Husband; Mrs. Hall Silent

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 29.—The hunt for the murderers of Rev. Edward W. Hall, and his "wonderheart" choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, which has held the eyes of the nation since September 14, and aroused even the United States senate's attention, today was abandoned.

Whether or not it ever is to be resumed, now that the Somerset grand jury has refused to indict any one, will depend upon a conference that Wilbur A. Mott, deputy attorney general in charge of the inquiry, will have at some future date with his chief, Attorney General T. F. McCran.

Mott said that no date had been set for the conference. He added that it would be an unofficial meeting. (Continued on Page Ten)

KIWANIS VOTE TO HELP COMBAT FEVER EPIDEMIC

A resolution to assist the Rotary Club and the Boy Scouts in the distribution of literature calling attention to the seriousness of the scarlet fever epidemic in Coshocton, was passed at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club Wednesday noon, following a talk on the epidemic by Glenn E. Smith, city health officer.

Smith gave his first talk at the Rotary Club meeting Tuesday noon, and at that time it was decided to print pamphlets giving details of the disease and its treatment, and to have them distributed by the Boy Scouts. The pamphlets were printed later that afternoon, and Wednesday afternoon were being circulated by the Scouts.

In the absence of President W. W. March, Vice-President L. W. Leonard presided at the Kiwanis meeting Wednesday. Musical entertainment was furnished by Robert Vogel.

An interesting report on the work being done by the Salvation Army of this city was given by Adjutant Anthony Vandervile.

NEW MOTORCYCLE FOR POLICE WILL MAKE 85 MILES

Boys, unless you've got lots of it, don't use any of it. Speed, that is.

The new motorcycle for Coshocton's traffic officer arrived Wednesday, and it's guaranteed to make 85 miles an hour.

It is a Harley-Davidson special police model, and the "special" means speed.

It will be ridden by Officer Roy Sheeley. Sheeley has instructions to cover the whole city, and he will be available for police calls of an emergency nature.

Altho he will not patrol any of the county roads, he has authority to chase violators any place in the county or state.

Believes Nation's Real Blessing Above All Is Banishment Of Saloon And Resultant Joys In American Homes

America has more reason to be thankful for prohibition than for any other one thing, Miss Evangeline Booth, commander of the Salvation Army in the United States, asserted today in response to a request from the I. N. S. that she pen a Thanksgiving day message.

Her message follows: —

CHICAGO, Nov. 29. — Were I called upon to name one thing for which this year we, as a nation, have greatest cause for thanksgiving I should unhesitatingly name prohibition.

Thousands of Turkeys, tons of cranberry sauce and oceans of other seasonal goodies will be spread before the happy wives and children of America purchased by money which in former years went to fatten the saloonkeeper, the brewer and the distiller.

No more will drunkenness and carousal in the mass mar the holy influence of the nation's finest holiday.

Of all the nations, America was first to set aside a day for the unique purpose of expressing gratitude to God.

There is a fine sentiment in the ideal of Thanksgiving day in that it typifies an unselfish gratitude. There is no individual in all the vast domains of beautiful America so poor in spirit that he or she cannot find something for which to be grateful.

But the end is not yet. When the world is thru with its killing of men, when the sun of the war god has forever set, when prohibition has flooded over our frontiers to cover the earth with its blessed sanctity and wives no longer weep for drunken husbands, nor children hide from besotted fathers, when peace has spread benevolent wings over all the nations, and the brotherhood of man has really come to pass, then will America lead the world to a greater Thanksgiving day.

There is a fine sentiment in the ideal of Thanksgiving day in that it typifies an unselfish gratitude. There is no individual in all the vast domains of beautiful America so poor in spirit that he or she cannot find something for which to be grateful.

OFFICIALS SILENT ON PROGRESS MADE IN PROBE OF FIRE

No information concerning the results of the investigation which is being conducted by county officials, of the fire which destroyed the Frank Martino home near Willis Creek, and burned to death Violet Rivers, last Friday evening, could be had from officials Wednesday.

It was learned that a state fire marshal was here Wednesday assisting the local officials, and Mrs. Martino was seen at the county sheriff's office. It was believed that she was being questioned concerning her knowledge of the fire.

Coroner E. M. Wright is still withholding his verdict, and declared Wednesday that he had nothing to give out. Sheriff Ernest Darr made a similar statement, answering all questions with the reply, "We have nothing to give out at this time."

The whole case hinges on the origin of the fire. Mr. and Mrs. Martino told authorities that they discovered the fire when they returned from Willis Creek about seven o'clock Friday evening. They declared that no fire, light or matches had been left in the house when they went away.

The young woman who was burned to death, was a daughter of Mrs. Martino's and a subject of epilepsy.

Those who have been dismissed from the City hospital and will spend Thanksgiving at home are: Mrs. Frank Sisley, Tunnel Hill; Mrs. Winnie Frederick, of Warsaw; Mrs. Mary Sunkle, of this city and Mrs. Frank Rice, of West Lafayette.

ROSCOE SERVICES THANKSGIVING DAY

Special services will be held Thursday evening, at 7 o'clock in the M. E. church at Roscoe. The Rev. S. Lee Whitman will deliver the sermon. Among the musical numbers arranged for will be a vocal solo by S. Lee Whitman Jr., student at Ohio Northern University, at Ada.

LICENSED TO MARRY

LIBRARY TO CLOSE

The Carnegie library will remain closed all day Thursday.

HIGH COST OF THANKSGIVING FEAST LOWER

Turkey Alone Is Above
Last Year's Price In Coshocton

OTHER MEAT CHEAP

Despite the fact that the high cost of living still prevails, Mrs. House Wife will defeat Mr. H. C. L. on Thanksgiving Day by serving a delicious dinner at a slightly lower price than she paid last Thanksgiving.

With the exception of the turkey, the other foods that go to make up the meal are cheaper. Turkeys range in price from 50 to 60 cents per pound. Turkeys dressed retail at 60 cents. Last year's quotations were 52 and 53 cents.

Should the housewife prefer duck, goose, chicken, or rabbit in place of turkey, she can serve a dinner of the same quality, but cheaper in price. Ducks retail at 24 cents per pound, geese at 23 cents per pound, chicken at 22 cents and rabbits at 35 to 40 cents a piece. Chicken, duck, rabbit or goose will furnish the "piece de resistance" to perhaps more families in this city than will turkey.

Other delicacies which go to make up the Thanksgiving feast can be procured at moderate prices. Celery can be purchased from 5 (Continued on Page Ten)

BRITAIN CUTS OFF RELATIONS WITH GREECE

LONDON, Nov. 29.—The British cabinet met this afternoon to consider the break in Anglo-Greek relations over the executions of former Greek ministers at Athens in the face of British opposition.

ATHENS, Nov. 29.—Diplomatic relations between Great Britain and Greece were broken off today when the British minister, F. O. Londley obtained his passports at the Greek foreign office and departed for home because of the execution of five former Greek ministers against the wishes of England.

It is reported that Prince Andrew and other former ministers in the government under Constantine's reign will be placed on trial before (Continued on Page Ten)

HAS AN OPERATION

C. H. Coulter, of Walnut-st., underwent an operation at the City hospital Tuesday evening for the removal of his appendix. The case was an emergency one and Mr. Coulter was rushed to the hospital last evening.

The operation was performed by Dr. J. G. Smalles, Dr. E. M. Wright and Dr. Lister Pomeroy.

LEAVE HOSPITAL

Those who have been dismissed from the City hospital and will spend Thanksgiving at home are: Mrs. Frank Sisley, Tunnel Hill; Mrs. Winnie Frederick, of Warsaw; Mrs. Mary Sunkle, of this city and Mrs. Frank Rice, of West Lafayette.

IS IMPROVED

Mrs. Albert Endres, of north Fifth-st., was reported much improved Wednesday from an illness of complications at her home. She has been critically ill at her home.

IS EXECUTRIX

Oliver T. Denman has been appointed and qualified as executrix of the estate of Herbert Denman, deceased, by order of the county probate court.

SKATERS WELCOME LOW TEMPERATURE, 17 DEGREES WED.

With ice on the canal and basin in Roscoe, it may be possible for the public to enjoy skating over Thanksgiving. The ice is slightly rough, but it appears to be solid enough to hold skaters.

Last night's freeze made the ice considerably more solid than it was Tuesday.

The report from the local weather observer, George Leonard, of George's Inn, Bridge-st., was that Tuesday night was the coldest it has been this fall. The thermometer registered 17 degrees above zero until late Wednesday morning.

Here's Warning To Woman Assistant Driver Of Autos

CINCINNATI, Nov. 29.—Mrs. Margaret Herbert, 45, wife of a Cheviot, Ohio, deputy marshal, grabbed the arm of the driver of an automobile in which she was riding when she became frightened on meeting another car, the result was that the first auto was wrecked and Mrs. Herbert's throat cut by glass from the windshield so that she died in a few moments.

SEVEN WOMEN WIN PRIZES FOR FEET LIKE MAE MURRAY

Mrs. Pearl M. Geiger, 345 north Second-st. and Mrs. Russell Ames, 923 Chestnut-st., share honors with being among Coshocton's first Cinderellas to compete with Mae Murray, favorite film actress, in both the size and beauty of her feet.

A dainty pair of gold cloth slippers, with French heels, worn by the movie star in her recent production, "Broadway Rose," have been on display this week at the Cantwell shoe store. Between the hours of 10 and 11 o'clock Wednesday morning, Coshocton's fairer sex had the opportunity of slipping her feet into these same slippers.

Prizes for the first two winners will be a pair of slippers made to order in the same size, one, triple A, as those on display. The next five winners, who were: Miss Helen Renner, Mrs. Charles Morgan, Mrs. Emma Norris, Mrs. French Wright and Miss Lillian Mohler, were given respectively, five, four, three, two and 1 tickets to the performance of "Broadway Rose," which begins a three-day engagement at the Sixth Street theatre Thursday.

By 10:45 o'clock, 38 local women had awaited their turn for the Cinderella slipper, but the last prize had been awarded. The store was crowded for the occasion with many spectators.

PETITION FILED FOR PARTITION

A petition for the partition of the estate of John Montgomery, deceased has been filed in probate court by Ida Maxwell. Montgomery died in 1890.

His property has since been held by his children. Deaths of several of the direct heirs has led to the filing of the petition.

Hazel Hine, Clyde Montgomery, Mary Montgomery and Louise Montgomery are named as defendants in the petition. L. N. Staats represents the plaintiff.

LEG AMPUTATED THE SECOND TIME

On account of an infection in the right leg, which was shot while hunting several days ago, Edward Willis, 817 Kentworth-ave, had the leg amputated for the second time, Monday afternoon.

The leg was amputated just below the hip. The amputation was made by Dr. J. W. Shaw assisted by Dr. E. M. Wright and Dr. L. C. McCurdy.

IS OPERATED UPON

Mrs. Floyd Severns, of Spring Mountain, underwent a major operation at the City hospital Tuesday. The operation was performed by Dr. Lister Pomeroy, assisted by Dr. J. W. Shaw and Dr. J. G. Smalles.

2 PUPILS DIE, 35 HURT IN A SCHOOL FIRE

COVINGTON, Ga., Nov. 29.—Two little boys are dead here today and thirty-five others are suffering from injuries as the result of fire which destroyed the High Point community school five miles south of here.

That others are not dead in the ruins of the school house is due to Mrs. Sadie Grant, teacher, who lifted child after child to a window thru which they leaped, many of them to safety.

The 10 year old sons of Charles Bachelor and James Steel are the dead. They were overcome by smoke while waiting their turn to be lifted to the window.

Mrs. Grant tried desperately to drag their bodies to safety, but was so exhausted by previous efforts that she could not. Then wrapping her face in a woolen jacket, she dashed to the window and flung herself out.

Burned badly, Mrs. Grant was sent to Atlanta to a hospital.

The school was attended yesterday by ninety nine pupils. Not all of these had been located early today, but it is not believed the death toll will be increased.

CHALFANT FARMERS SET REAL EXAMPLE OF PUBLIC SERVICE

People of the Chalfant community like good roads so well that they are willing to improve them themselves, according to reports from there Wednesday.

The Chalfant church is three-quarters of a mile from the Trinway-Wakatomika gravel road, the road leading to the church, during bad weather, because so muddy that it was almost impassable.

In order to have the road improved, the people of the community entered into a contract with their township trustees, whereby the trustees were to pay for graveling one-half the road, and the people would do the rest.

The service of seventeen teams of horses and the labor of men were donated, and the people's share of the road has been completed.

Now the township has started to carry out its part of the contract. No one may haul gravel for pay, for the township, unless he donated three days' work on the half done by the people of the community.

During the time the free work was being done, the women of the community furnished warm dinners for the men working.

Quartet Of Crooks Who Ran A foul Capital City Police Were Formerly Deputies In Pennsylvania Coal Strike Disorders—One Dead, One May Die At Own Hand

COLUMBUS, Nov. 29.—With three of the quartet of bandits who fatally shot Patrolman G. P. Koehler and who wounded Corporal Roscoe C. Fiddle here early yesterday accounted for a posse of officers and civilians, aided by bloodhounds, today are scouring the territory around Lilly Chapel, Madison-co, searching for the fourth member of the gang.

"Locomis" Cummins, 26, Louisville, Ky., is in jail here. James Martin, alias "Slim" Brady, 26, who claimed to have no home and is charged by Cummins with killing Officer Koehler, is in St. Francis hospital here recovering from a bullet wound in the head which destroyed the sight of his right eye.

Martin tried to kill himself when he found he could not escape arrest.

The lifeless body of the third bandit, known as "Bill", is on a slab in the police surgeon's office at city prison.

The Franklin county grand jury, meeting in special session at noon, is expected to take prompt action in indicting the bandits on first degree murder charges.

Cummins pleaded not guilty to a charge of first degree murder when arraigned in municipal court and was bound over to the grand jury.

It is said it will be about a week before the officials will be able to remove Martin from the hospital and place him on trial.

Cummins and Martin were caught late yesterday shortly after they, with the missing bandit, were (Continued on Page Five)

HELD ON CHARGE OF INTOXICATION

James Wilson was arrested Tuesday evening on a charge of intoxication, and disorderly conduct. He was arraigned on the disorderly conduct charge Wednesday forenoon and pleaded guilty. No judgment had been pronounced by Mayor W. S. Tish Wednesday afternoon.

Officer Roy Sheeley made the arrest.

FILIBUSTER STOPS WORK FOR SENATE

Special Session Sinks Into Political Fight Over
Dyer Bill

DEMOCRATS ANGRY

Fate Of Ship Subsidy
Rests Upon Settlement
Of Senate Fight

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—The United States senate was stricken with legislative paralysis today as the Democratic minority resumed its filibuster against the Dyer anti-lynching bill.

Legislative progress was at a complete standstill while both major parties organized for a finish fight over enactment of the measure.

Scores of bills, dozens of presidential appointments, committee reports were held in abeyance by the filibuster.

Flushed with the success of their first day's efforts the Democrats renewed their challenge to prevent the transaction of all business until the Dyer bill is officially side-tracked. Speaking for the minority, Senator Underwood, Democrat, Alabama, announced they would continue the filibuster until next March 4, if necessary to prevent enactment of the Dyer bill.

The Republicans as a result of a party caucus, accepted the challenge, declaring they will keep the measure constantly before the senate until a record vote is taken on its passage. The caucus even voted to hold the senate in session on Thanksgiving day with the possibility of night sessions.

A victory for the Democrats is generally predicted, owing to the desire of the administration to pass the ship subsidy bill. This measure, passing the house today, will be ready for senate consideration tomorrow or Friday and would have to be sidetracked if the anti-lynching fight is continued.

Indications are an agreement will be reached before the close of today's session.

The "journal", a document seldom mentioned or even recognized, was the center of the first day's filibuster and Democratic leaders announced they intended to pursue the same course today. By proposing amendments in its numerous entries, the Democrats disclosed (Continued on Page Ten)

THEATRES, DANCE FOOTBALL GAME ON THANKSGIVING DAY

Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, the people of this city will have the opportunity to enjoy the local picture shows, a picture at the Sixth Street theatre, a dance in the evening at Moose Temple and a football game at Red Sea in the afternoon.

The football game in the afternoon on the local gridiron will be staged between the high school eleven and the Maskingum Academy aggregation. The game starts at 2:30 o'clock.

The attractions at the picture houses Thursday are: The "Hole in the Wall" with Alice Lake; Utahna, Frank Mayo in "Out of the Silent North." Three hundred dollars will be given away in prizes tomorrow evening at this theatre. If Utahna is too crowded, numbers will be announced at Pastime. Cinderella, Alice Lake, Rosemary Theby and Gordon Griffith in "More to be Pitted than Scorned." Mystic, high grade pictures and a stock company show: Sixth Street, Mae Murray in "Broadway Rose. There will be performances matinee and night. The theatre orchestra will play matinee and night.

Business Suspends For Annual Holiday

With the exception of the police station, alleged bootlegging joints and local confectiories, all business places in this city will be closed in observance of Thanksgiving Day, Thursday.

The banks, grocery stores, the Carnegie library, the barber shops, factories and offices will be closed. There will be no city or rural delivery of mails Thursday. The General Delivery window will be open from the hours of 8 to 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

All barber shops will be open until 8 o'clock Wednesday evening and closed all day Thursday.

Plymouth, Crestline and Bucyrus, have turned in their accounts of the expense of conducting the business of the league during the summer at an expense of one dollar and fifty cents for each team. They are now fearful that some of the big league towns will hear of it and requisition their services and methods for conducting the baseball affairs of some of the larger cities where expenses run higher.

WELLINGTON, Nov. 29—Roy Brasse, of Pittsfield, lay helpless for over an hour, a mile from any dwelling when his horses reared while hauling logs and a part of the whiplash which broke struck his leg and broke both bones. A transient, walking along the Ramsey railroad tracks, was attracted by calls for help and summoned aid. Brasse (tussled with the frightened team of horses for half an hour with the broken leg before he got them under control.

ELYRIA, Nov. 29—Steve Wick, 14, being brot here from Dodge City, Iowa, where he was apprehended after running away, escaped at Port Clinton from a New York Central railroad passenger train conductor in whose charge he was. He faces a term in the Lancaster Industrial School, this being the fifth time that he has run away.

ASHLAND, Nov. 29—Ashland College, which had a successful football season, also expects a successful basketball season. The team opens with Kent State Normal here December 14 and meets Kenyon after the holidays. During the holidays the team is planning to make a barn-storming trip thru Ohio.

HICKSVILLE, Nov. 29—Through efforts of the chamber of commerce here, a cigar factory will be located in Hicksville by A. G. Wright, of Belmont. A new building is to be constructed, according to present plans, on the site of the old handle factory on East Smith street near the Baltimore and Ohio railroad tracks. Fifty girls will be employed as soon as the new structure is completed. Meanwhile, work will be carried on a smaller scale in the building on East Edgerton, formerly occupied by Custer Brothers.

ELYRIA, Nov. 29—The Big Four railroad files injunction suit to prevent collection by taxes of nearly $6,000 for water works and sewer assessment, claiming the railroad gets no benefit therefrom.

"Newberryism" Blamed
By Women for Defeat
Of Senator Townsend

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 29.—Senator Charles E. Townsend's statement, attributing his defeat in the recent election to the fact that many women believed he had committed an offense against good government in voting to seat Senator Truman H. Newberry, was corroborated by opinions expressed by prominent women leaders of both Democratic and Republican parties. "Many women were not opposed to Senator Townsend personally, but to the so-called 'Newberryism' which they thought he represented," Mrs. Lucia Grimes, president of the Women's Republican Club, said.

"I reflect expressions heard before the election. We asked Senator Townsend three times to appear before this club and explain his position, but he was unable to come each time." Mrs. George E. Key, president of the Women's Democratic Club, said.

"Senator Townsend voted to unseat Senator Lorimer for the same offense as Senator Newberry's, but he voted to seat Senator Newberry. His action caused many members of his party to turn him down and vote for his opponent. The people of Michigan decided they wanted no more 'Newberryism'."

Senator Newberry has since resigned.

New York Hospitals
Cure Many Patients
Of Mental Diseases

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 29.—Thirty per cent of the people entering New York State hospitals for mental treatment are discharged annually as either cured or improved.

So declares Dr. G. B. Smith, of Alton, Ill., one of three members of the National Committee on Mental Hygiene, now engaged in a survey of mental condition and environment of prisoners in jails and prisons in this state.

Further, according to Dr. Smith, persons afflicted with mental diseases are now asking for treatment instead of trying to avoid it, as in the past.

"Statistics show that more beds are used in hospitals in the United States for persons with mental diseases than all other diseases combined," said Dr. Smith. "There has been an extraordinary increase in treatments for these troubles in the last few years, which might lead one to think that the diseases themselves are increasing."

"But the truth is that the increase is due to the fact that people afflicted are not keeping it quiet, but are asking to be cured. No longer is there any stigma attached."

GOV. DAVIS ASKED TO ABOLISH FUEL ADMINISTRATION

COLUMBUS, Nov. 29.—State Fuel Administrator Neal has asked Gov. Davis to abolish the state fuel administration next Friday.

"With reasonable prices and an adequate supply of fuel established, the emergency which gave rise to the coal control has ended," Administrator Neal informed Gov. Davis.

"The fuel market has been stabilized and the prices to Ohio consumers have been as reasonable as the circumstances would permit, and all the benefits that reasonably could be expected from the law in the passing emergency have been secured," continued Neal.

"The lake shipments which amounted to about 1,000,000 tons of coal each week are at an end, and all persons in a position to know accurately claim that this coal which has been going to the Northwest will be available for Ohio and adjacent markets. The law of supply and demand will take care of the fuel supply in Ohio. Prices allowed the retailer, in various communities, have been given wide circulation and can be used by the public as a guide in checking up on the prices charged by retailers."

GREEK MINISTERS SENTENCED TO DIE FOR AIDING TURKS

Britain May Sever Relations With Greece As Result Of Sentences

ATHENS, Nov. 29.—In the face of formal protest by Great Britain five former Greek ministers and a general were today sentenced to death for contributing to the responsibility for the Greek defeat by the Turks in Asia Minor.

The British government, in a formal note to Greece, had threatened to break off diplomatic relations, if the former members of the government were given capital sentences. The men condemned to death were:

Former Premier Gouaris, former Premier Protopadakis, former Minister of Interior Stratos, former Minister of War Theotokis, former Foreign Minister Baltazis and General Hadjanestis.

General Stratigos and Admiral Goudas were sentenced to life imprisonment.

All were tried before a general court martial created by the Greek revolutionary committee after the overthrow of Constantine's old government.

In addition to the death sentences heavy fines were imposed upon the prisoners. It is assumed that Great Britain's attempt to save the former Greek officials was inspired by the fact that the British gave moral support to the Greeks in their war against the Turks in Asia Minor.

OFFICE SEEKERS BESEIGE DONAHEY FOR STATE JOBS

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 29.—Governor-Elect A. V. Donahey is being besieged by politicians who have their eyes focused on the political plums which the governor will have to bestow when he enters office early next year.

Included in these appointments of the governor's patronage are six members of his cabinet at $6,500 a year, whose terms of office are so extensive with that of the governor, and the governor's secretary who receives $5,000 a year.

The six members of the cabinet to be appointed are the state directors of finance, commerce, welfare, industrial relations, agriculture, health and highways.

Of the other two members of the governor's cabinet, Director of Highways Herrick is under civil service and Director of Education Riegel who occupies a constitutional office may serve until April 6, 1924, when his term of office expires.

Other appointments which Governor-Elect Donahey will be able to make when he becomes Ohio's chief executive are: An executive clerk in his office who will receive $3,000 a year; successors to Adjutant General Florence at $6,000 a year; Prohibition Commissioner Parker $5,000; Civil Service Commissioner Thad H. Brown (secretary of state) $4,000; a superintendent of budget (now vacant) $4,000; State Fire Marshal Dikeman $4,500; superintendent of building and loan associations, John W. Pugh, $5,000; state utilities commissioner, Charles C. Marshall, Democrat (term expires in February) $6,000; State Fish and Game Warden A. C. Baxter, $3,500.

The law provides that numerous other appointments may be made by the members of the governor's cabinet.

GOSSIPS TO BLAME FOR POISONING OF INNOCENT WOMAN

CHILTON, Wis., Nov. 29.—Wagging tongues which milled over the morsel that she had gone to a dance with a married man, was declared today by Miss Anna Lenz, 30, daughter of a wealthy farmer, to have been responsible for the poison plot which landed her in the county jail and which claimed a mother of eight children as its innocent victim, according to admissions the authorities declared she made.

This statement was made today, according to deputy sheriffs by the attractive farmer's daughter as she was held prisoner awaiting arraignment on a charge of having sent poisoned candy to Mrs. Frank Schneider, sister-in-law of Mrs. Henry Schneider, for whom the death candy was intended.

"Mrs. Henry Schneider said that I was at a dance with Frank Schneider," said Miss Lenz. "She called me vile names and it worried me for months so I could not sleep; so finally I bought some poison, saying I wanted it to kill rats."

"I thought I had directed it to Mrs. Henry Schneider, but when I found out that Mrs. French Schneider was dead, I realized my mistake."

15 CONVICTS MAKE GETAWAY IN MICH.; 9 ARE CAPTURED

MARQUETTE, Mich., Nov. 29.—Nine of the fifteen long term convicts who fled the state prison here Sunday after traversing steam pipe tunnels in the prison heating system, were in solitary confinement today while deputy sheriffs, state police and citizens' posse continued their search for the remaining six.

Four of the fugitives who stole an auto, wrecked it, and continued in a second stolen car, were trapped on an abandoned tug in Houghton lake sixty miles away last night. Three others were taken yesterday in an old brewery near the prison and the others were recaptured Sunday a few minutes after flight.

Wet Jury And Dry Law

THE conviction of Anthony Cassese in Brooklyn the other day took place under interesting circumstances. The defense had succeeded in getting a jury composed only of men favoring a modification of the Volstead act. It took this body twenty-nine minutes to decide that Cassese, charged with rum-running from the Bahamas, was guilty, and Judge Knox immediately inflicted the maximum penalty of two years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

The verdict was logical, of course, but there have been a great many illogical verdicts under the Volstead act. It is reassuring to see twelve men who do not like the law voting to condemn a man who has violated it. Important as wetness and dryness are to a great many people, the honest administration of the law is more important. The government has been realizing this more and more keenly, and now the public seems to be realizing it.

For a time it seemed likely that personal preference would become more powerful in New York than the will of congress and the legislature. This was a possibility repugnant to all honest and responsible men—both those believing in prohibition and those who believe in modification.

Clemenceau And Borah

A comparison of M. Clemenceau's speeches with that of Senator Borah, his most distinguished American critic, shows not only how far apart but how inadequate their policies are.

M. Clemenceau asks us frankly and justly why, if our motives in 1917 were what we said they were, we withdrew in 1919. According to President Wilson, we went to Europe to make the world safe for democracy. When we had beaten Germany we came home again, and obviously the world is not safe for democracy. Europe's condition, says M. Clemenceau, is due to our failure. If France relies upon force it is because we haven't helped her to find a better way.

Senator Borah declares that "the same militaristic, imperialistic policies which brot on the war in 1914 are again hatching war in Europe." He says:

If the great powers of Europe will write a treaty under which Europe can live, if they will do justice to the subject peoples of Europe; if they will abandon the principle of imperialism; if they will announce, instead of a policy of force one of justice toward other peoples, if they will adopt the policy that looks to peace and not to war, which looks to reconstruction and not to destruction, which looks to upbuilding and not to dismemberment, and bring their program to the American people, they will find a sympathetic accord here as they will not find anywhere else in the world.

This passage does not describe the Treaty of Versailles, but it does describe the first twenty-six articles of that treaty, better known as the covenant of the League of Nations. Yet Senator Borah was one of the leading opponents of the league. He opposed it because he thought it a super-government which would involve us in war. M. Clemenceau, at the same time, was unenthusiastic because he didn't think it offered France adequate support in case of a new German attack. This failure to agree as to what the discussion is about clouds the issue to this day. M. Clemenceau comes to the doctor with news that his former patient is very ill. The doctor, as Senator Borah interprets him, replies that he will not come until the patient proves his good intentions by getting well.

The American spirit which Senator Borah describes does exist and might have a wholesome influence upon European affairs. If Borah and his supporters really want to make their principles effective, the way to do it is to give America a voice and a vote in European councils. This is the way both to answer M. Clemenceau's stinging assertion that we have "quit" and to reform that policy of force to which M. Clemenceau stubbornly adheres.

Mexico And The State Dept.

ON July 19 Senator Ladd in the Senate asked, "What good grounds longer exist for withholding recognition to Mexico?" His speech was one of the most forceful made in the Senate and no answer has ever been given to his question.

He quoted with deadly effect the words of Secretary Hughes that Mexican recognition waited upon Obregon signing a treaty satisfactory to the United States. Still more deadly was his quotation of a settlement by Secretary Fall, which complained that British oil companies were obtaining "an advantage of American companies who are faithfully abiding by the advice and instructions—presumably not to obey the laws—of the American Government in this matter."

The whole address was a magnificent indictment of American policy toward Mexico, San Domingo, Nicaragua, Guatemala, Panama and Cuba. His contrast of this policy with the attitude toward Guatemala was especially apt. A military clique ousted the President on December 5, 1921, accompanied with wholesale assassinations. Ten days later Orrellana had himself elected President with the assistance of his armed mercenaries and was immediately recognized by the United States Government. He might have added that Panama was recognized within three days after a "revolution" that was aided by American warships off the Panama coast.

There is reason for believing that this Guatemalan dictator was acceptable in Washington because he will take orders from the United States. In other words, another vassal state has been created in Central America that will serve American promoters and investors.

Obregon refuses to have Mexico become an outpost of American petroleum investors and thru the State Department they exercise a veto over any proposal for Mexican recognition. The influence of the press in this bullying is also apparent. The address of Senator Ladd passed almost unnoticed, while Ladd himself has received no answer to his indictment of American policy toward Latin American countries.

Musterole is easy to apply and it gets in its good work right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. Just apply Musterole with the fingers. It does all the good work of grand-mother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean white ointment made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of all sorts. Seldom fails to deliver results. 35c and 65c jars and tubes, hospital size, $2.00.

MILLERSBURG'S LIVEST NEWS BY STAFF REPORTER

PLEA OF "FRIEND" IS WASTED ON SHERIFF

Following the arrest, Sunday, of Mr. and Mrs. George Roselle and Basil Carlton, two miles north of Winesburg, on charges of bootlegging, attempts are said to have been made by "big town" men to whom the three are alleged to have sold "hooch" to have them liberated from the charges against them. A well-groomed young man, presumably of Akron and giving his name as Ed Beatty, approached Deputy Sheriff Close in the jail one evening soon after the prisoners had been incarcerated. According to the deputy, he "got off a sob story" to the effect that he had lived next door to the Roselles and they had merely been tempted by the chance to make quick money by bootlegging. Mr. Close replied by saying that the home had been raided once before but nothing had been found and the suspects were warned. Therefore, they had been given enough chance to reform.

The raid was accomplished Sunday afternoon. The deputy sheriff, accompanied by two deputies, went to the house about 2 p. m. and demanded admittance, which was at first refused. When the house was searched, 50 gallons of corn whiskey, two barrels of grain mash, twelve empty barrels and a number of jugs and jars, containing mash were found. No still was located. Roselle says that the still "went early Sunday morning." But, he refused to tell where it went.

The liquor was emptied. Roselle begged the deputy to let him keep it in order that he might pay his fine. This was fixed at $1,000 and costs and the hearing Monday evening. Marie (Mrs. George) Roselle is the daughter of Rev. Martin Van Buren Shoup, a Mennonite preacher. She pleaded not guilty and will be given a trial, Friday. Carlton declares he is not implicated. He was "working for" Roselle. Both have been kept in jail. Mrs. Roselle was released on bond, Sunday.

A raid about two months ago at the same house was unsuccessful but the Roselles have been under suspicion. It is that that Roselle does not sell the liquor he manufactures directly, but is a member of a chain, and that it is taken to Akron, Canton and other cities to be sold. After he had been caught he told the deputy that if he had come the next day he would have found no liquor.

WORKMAN FUNERAL

The body of John Workman, 65, of Akron, arrived at 3-00 Wednesday for interment this afternoon in Oak Hill cemetery. Mr. Workman died Monday noon from heart disease.

Mr. Workman was born in Danville and several years ago married Fanny Carpenter, of Clark, who survives him. The remains were under the care of Otto El-Bott. No children survive.

seen on a pile of railroad ties along the tracks near Lilly Chapel.

Officials were told by Cummins that, out of money and gasoline the handits were planning on robbing a north High-st. restaurant when they were arrested by Officers Koehler and Fiddle. The handits expected, according to Cummins, to go to Cincinnati and then to Aurora, and rob a bank.

As the officers closed in on him, Martin pleaded with them to kill him. "I'm no good," he cried.

Cummins and "Bill" joined the gang at a west Twenty-fifth-st. corner, Cleveland. In his pocket was found an Erie, Pa. bank passbook bearing the name "Peter Long." Police here were informed he was a New York transient.

After becoming acquainted with Brady and Lewis (the handit not yet arrested), in Fayette-co, Penn., where they had been employed as deputy sheriffs during the coal strike last summer, Cummins said they staged a number of robberies at Cincinnati, Cleveland and other places. He expressed belief that Brady and Lewis murdered a Dayton, Ohio, man.

Cummins served a term in the Phonfield reformatory, Indiana, and was arrested for vagrancy at Louisville, Ky., in April, 1919.

Of the fifteen shots fired by Officer Fiddle at the fleeing bandits early yesterday, thirteen bullets made holes in the rear of the machine. Five of the holes are within an eighth inch circle. It is believed Officer Fiddle killed the man known as "Bill."

Funeral of Patrolman Koehler will take place Thursday morning at the residence, 367 south Hagar-ay, Rev. O. L. Lindemolt, pastor of the Shepard M. E. church, officiating.

Policemen have been selected as pall bearers. Escorted by two night battalions and the traffic squad, the body will be taken to the Union station and shipped to St. Bernard, a Cincinnati suburb, for burial in Reading cemetery Friday morning.

A reward fund is being raised by public contribution for Mrs. Koehler, the widow.

WHISKEY RUNNERS WITH HUGE CARGO OFF JERSEY COAST

Million Dollars' Worth of Liquors To Supply The Holiday Trade

NEW YORK, Nov. 28—Eight sloops of liquor worth $1,000,000 at bootleg prices are standing off New York and New Jersey coast today waiting to be unloaded by "fleet blockade runners" which will try to land the contraband wet cargoes despite the vigilance of the prohibition navy.

This is part of a $10,000,000 shipment of liquors from Great Britain, the Bahamas and Miquelon Island to satisfy the American "holiday trade."

Traders in the Bahamas were so swamped with orders from the United States that they began to substitute fake whiskies, brandies and wines for the real stuff, as a result of which orders are being withdrawn from the islands and placed in Scotland.

It is said the government knows of the rum runners off the New York and New Jersey coast but could do nothing until the blockade runners got inside the three mile limit and attempted to slip by the patrolling dry navy.

The crews are as desperate as those who sailed the Spanish main in the days of buccaneers. If the prohibition officers attempt to seize the liquor on the high seas there will be a fight, it is reported.

There are pirates—real pirates. The pirates have no organization. They work independently. The ships consist of fast schooners, rigged sailing boats aided by the power of auxiliary motors which send them thru the water at 20 miles an hour. The hulls are covered with thick sheet iron armor to turn rifle and pistol bullets. They are armed with machine guns.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cured with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

Blackheaded Pimples Quit With S. S. S.

Why? Pimple-Poison Goes When Red-Blood-Cells Increase! S. S. S. Builds These Red-Blood-Cells.

You can be sure of this, nature has no substitute for red-blood-cells. Pimple-poison can't live in the from rivers of your blood as long as there are enough rich red-blood-cells in it. More red-blood-cells! That is what you need when you see pimples staring at you in the mirror. Blackheaded pimples are worse! Eczema is worse yet! You can try everything under the sun—you'll find only one answer, more cell-power in your blood! The tremendous results produced by an increase in red-blood-cells is one of the A. B. C.'s of medical science. Red-cells mean clear, pure rich blood. They mean clear, ruddy, lovable complexions. They mean nerve power, because all your nerves are fed by your blood. They mean freedom forever from pimples, from the blackhead pest, from boils, from eczema and skin eruptions, from rheumatism, impurities, from that tired, exhausted, run-down feeling. Red-blood-cells are the most important thing in the world to each of us. S. S. S. will build them for you. S. S. S. has been known since 1826, as one of the greatest blood-builders, blood-cleansers and system strengtheners ever produced. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

S. S. S. makes you feel like yourself again

Usually the pirates pose as revenue men until they get aboard the suspected rum runner. Then pistols are displayed and it is "hands up" and another rum runner has lost her cargo.

Women Poor Barbers Says Tonsor Chief

LONDON, Nov. 29 — "Women are no good as barbers, they are unreliable and erratic, as most women are in work. Their skill may be remarkable today but positively dangerous tomorrow."

This is the challenging reason given for the official exclusion of women from the ancient profession of hairdressing by Mr. John Symonds, president of the Hairdressers' Association, who contends that only men can make efficient barbers.

West Virginia Capital To Exploit Lumber In New Mexican Forests

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 28 — Capitalists in this city have organized the White Pine Lumber Company, with a capitalization of $6,000,000, for the purpose of developing immense tracts of white pine timber in New Mexico, covering some 600,000 acres. The sum of $1,000,000 has been paid into the concern in cash for the construction of fifty miles of standard gauge railroad and the erection of great mills for the manufacture of lumber, which work is under way.

This is the challenging reason given for the official exclusion of women from the ancient profession of hairdressing by Mr. John Symonds, president of the Hairdressers' Association, who contends that only men can make efficient barbers.

Coach Yost Will Not Quit Wolverines Yet For Awhile, He Avers

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 29 — Coast Yost, who has made perhaps the best showing of his career with the Michigan football eleven this year, denies that he will not coach the Wolverines next year. Stories of the coming departure of the "grand old man" of Wolverine football from the game have been flying about ever since this year's team showed class.

"I have been saying for some time that I am going to quit when I can get a coaching crew here that can handle the situation," said Yost. "That may be today, tomorrow or two years from now. I have plenty of time to do in the athletic office, and when I'm satisfied Michigan's coaching staff is ready I'll leave the active work."

Man Coughs Up Dime Swallowed 4 Years Ago

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 29 — The baby who coughed up a peanut the other day after it had been in his lungs for seventeen months had nothing on William Edens, of Blue Creek. Edens coughed up a dime. About four years ago Mrs. Edens fainted as she and her husband were waiting for a street car. Edens, holding ten cents car fare in his hands, stooped to assist his wife and placed the coin in his mouth. In the excitement the ten-cent piece slipped down his throat. Several days ago Mrs. Edens again fainted, and Edens, while in a stooping position to assist her, coughed, and the dime was dislodged. Mr. Edens had never complained of any suffering.

Hawaii Kindergartens Increasingly Popular

HONOLULU, Nov. 29—Honolulu free kindergartens in spite of accommodations an enrollment that more than triples last year's attendance, are daily refusing admission to hundreds of kiddies.

Striking Coal Miners Find Consolation In Hunting And Fishing

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 29 — Resident and non-resident hunters paid into the treasury of West Virginia $69,548 between January 1 and October 1 of the present year in fees for hunters' licenses, reports of County Clerks for the nine months show. A total of 64,938 resident and 308 non-resident licenses were issued.

During the same period a total of 239 persons were arrested on charges of violating the fish and game laws. Convictions numbered 218. The majority of the alleged violations had to do with the dynamiting of fish. With sixty-two persons arrested and fifty-six convicted, Kanawha County led all other counties in arrests and convictions. The total of fines collected for violations of the game and fish laws was $3,595.

According to officials of the Fish and Game Commission, the large increase in the number of licenses issued was due to the coal strike.

SULPHUR SOOTHES UGLY, ITCHING SKIN

The First Application Makes Skin Cool and Comfortable

If you are suffering from eczema or some other torturing, embarrassing skin trouble you may quickly be rid of it by using Mentho Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist.

This sulphur preparation, because of its germ destroying properties, seldom fails to quickly subdue itching, even of very eczema. The first application makes the skin cool and comfortable. Rash and blotches are healed right up. Mentho Sulphur is applied like any pleasant cold cream and is perfectly harmless. You can obtain a small jar from any good druggist.

GAS OVERCOMES; FIRE KILLS MAN

CINCINNATI, Nov. 29 — The body of Henry Becker, 50, was found seated in a chair in front of a gas stove Monday afternoon in the man's room, baked and charred by heat from the stove and with one hand burned off. The man was last seen alive on Saturday when he entered his room.

The coroner reported that in his opinion, Becker sat down before that would go from my left knee to my back. Tried many remedies without relief. Finally used Foley Kidney Pills and in fifteen days was entirely cured," writes W. J. Oliver, Vidalia, Georgia. Back ache, rheumatic pains, dull head ache, dizziness and blurred vision are symptoms of kidney disorder. Foley Kidney Pills quickly relieve kidney and bladder trouble.

BETTY HAS A STRANGE MEAL

H. DEAR," Betty

O sighed, when her mother passed her the eggs and bacon at the breakfast table. "I'm certainly tired of bacon

and eggs all the time."

"Tut, tut!" laughed a meek voice, and Go-

comeback, the travel

clerk, hopped upon the chair at her side.

"What's all the trouble

this morning?"

"Bacon and eggs, eggs

and bacon," Betty pout-

ed. "I'm tired of them."

"Pshaw, now isn't that too bad!" laughed the clerk. "Suppose you come along with me. I was just on my way to Central Africa to visit a friend of mine."

Before Betty could

even answer, she was whisked through the air,

out the back door and over mountains and seas

to a strange land.

The houses were all made of mud with grass piled high on their roofs. A little black girl heard them

and came running out

to meet them.

"Well, well, Gocom-

back," she cried, shaking

the little elfin's hand.

"You and Betty are just in time for dinner. I'll bury and get it ready."

"Now, isn't that fine?"

whispered Gocomback.

"You're going to have a real African treat." They watched the little black girl go out to a queer-looking basket, shaped like a barrel, high up on poles. Betty, eager to see everything she did,

ran after her.

"This is our family

corn-crib," the little black girl laughed.

"When the corn is ripe,

mother and I go out into the fields, hoe the corn and gather it. We store

it in this crib-basket until we want to use it,

then we take it out and grind it into meal."

"But where in the world do you take it?"

Betty asked. "Do you have to take it far?"

"No, indeed," laughed

the little black girl, and her white teeth sparkled against her black face.

"Not very far." She pointed to a big, round

block of wood near the corn-crib.

Betty followed her

and found that the block

had a hole in the top, forming a deep bowl. The little black girl shod

several ears of corn into the bowl and with the end of a long wooden club pounded the corn

until it became quite fine. Then she poured it out onto a flat basket

tray of coarse fibres—

forming a rough sieve—

and shook it until all the fine meal was sifted through. This she put back into the mill, while the coarse part was thrown away.

Time after time she did this until the meal in the mill was just right,

then out it came and was rubbed between stones

until it was ready to be made into pancakes.

"Now, we must have

milk," she laughed, and called her brother. He took a long piece of grape-vine, tied it around the trunk of a tree, to make a hoop, stepped inside the hoop and so climbed the tree. When he reached the top, he cut off coconuts and threw them down to his sister. She cut off their tops and handed Betty

one to drink.

This was all so strange to Betty that she laughed,

MY MARRIAGE PROBLEMS

Adele Garrison's New Phase of

Revelations of a Wife

Copyright, 1922, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

The Hesitating Word of Advice Madge's Father Offered Her.

REMEMBER," Lilian whispered, as after Kate's delicious luncheon,

I stood on the side veranda while my father brought the car he had given me to the door, "don't be 'hasty in your judgments.' That's all I ask of you."

"I'll remember," I replied, kissing her warmly, and hoping that she would not notice that I had promised only my memory, not my actions. But I knew from the troubled look which flashed into her eyes that she had caught my omission.

In all honesty, however, I could not promise any kindly feeling toward Dicky. I was too angry at him for any other feeling to sway me, and I climbed into the car beside my father with the knowledge that her eyes were sorrow-fully and worriedly watching me.

The knowledge as well as my sombre thoughts concerning the ridiculous errand on which I was bound kept me silent during the drive to the station. I felt subtly that my father was covertly watching me, and I was not surprised when we had drawn up at the station to have him turn to me and say hesitatingly:

"You Won't Be Offended?"

"Daughter, dear, you won't be offended if your old father sounds just a note of warning?"

To myself I said rebelliously that I could not well do without advice from him, Lilian or any one else. But I could not hurt him by even a hint of my feeling, and my answer was prompt and earnest.

"You know that you could not possibly offend me," I said, and he laid his hand over mine in a swift caress.

"Let me tell you first, dear child," he said, and there was the hint of repressed anger in his voice, "that I am your champion in this thing. Your husband is absolutely in the wrong, and he has no reason to expect any leniency from you. I am glad I am not younger or I would give him the thrashing he deserves on submitting you to this undescribable publicity."

I shivered a bit as he came to a sudden stop, for there was something in his voice and manner which made me realize that beneath my father's gentleness there was a man never had seen, a man of tempered steel, who had participated in many wild and hard scenes of which I knew nothing.

"That's My Brave Girl!"

"But while all this is true," he went on in a more subdued tone, "am I sure of one thing. There is nothing really wrong in this escapade, nothing which should cause you to shut your husband away from either your forgiveness or your confidence. Discipline him as much as you like, my dear, and I imagine your feminine resourcefulness needs no hint as to methods."

Did I imagine the ghost of a smile twisting his lips?

"But I beg of you not to make the fatal mistake of dealing with a foolish indiscretion on your husband's part as if it were a real wrong against your marriage vows. Realize an attitude of severe judgment of innocent indiscretion.

I never had known the real story of that long past tragedy in the lives of my parents.

That my father had deserted my mother for another woman when I was four years old—this I had fact I knew,

and I was familiar with my father's long and bitter atonement and his search for me. But my mother's side was a record which upon her dying bed

she had asked me to read if ever in my life with my husband I should need it.

Was it possible, I wondered, that my mother had once faced the same problem I was now confronting, and had made the wrong decision?

"I am not sure," I whispered, as he helped me from the car and es-

THANKSGIVING

::

::

By Juanita Hamel

Copyright, 1922, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc. Great Britain rights reserved.

Of all the days of feasting and rejoicing, of remembering and looking forward, is there another that holds so much of reverent happiness as this we call Thanksgiving? Home from the four corners of the earth THEY come and also there arrive those who—eagerly awaited—are preparing to make a home for themselves and for each other. "Home," "Thanksgiving"—how perfectly these wondrous words fit each other!

WINIFRED BLACK

WRITES ABOUT Being Truly Thankful

Copyright, 1922, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

THANKSGIVING again! Thanksgiving with Uncle John and Aunt Mary, and Grandmas and Brother Jim's new wife that none of us can bear, and Sister Susie's new husband, who bores us all nearly to death with his tales about his great-grandfather and what he said on the battlefield at Lexington or somewhere or other.

Thanksgiving, with turkeys 'way up and cranberries, too, and the art of mince-pie making almost forgotten!

Hurrah, I'm glad it is here, anyhow!

Extravagant—of course it's extravagant—the whole business of feasting and inviting, and eating too much and talking too much, and spending too much money on food and table decorations—but, dear me, what's the use of living if you can't be extravagant once in a while?

Who are you, anyway, and who am I, but just little no account notes dancing in the sunshine? We'll all be dead a hundred years from now and nobody will know then that we ever were alive at all—why not take a day off and be as happy as a dog or a cat or a bird in the air or a fish in the sea anyhow?

Why not forget all the silly little bothers that have been putting wrinkles in our faces for the past twelve months, and just think about home and home folks and take an interest in whether the turkey is stuffed with sage and onion dressing or apples and nuts or chestnuts, moist and rich, or oysters—take your choice, any one of them is good enough for a hungry man or a hungry woman either, let me tell you that!

Celery and cranberries, mashed potatoes and pumpkin pie—don't you dare put the "mp" into that pumpkin—it doesn't taste the same if you do! Whip up plenty of eggs for the top of the pie and have some real, good, old-fashioned, thick, rich American cream cheese and afterward a cup of coffee—and well, what's the use?

Materialistic, of course it is! Lots of the good things in life are. That's what they're for! Why not recognize them and enjoy them for isn't that?

I hate a pig and a man or a woman either who lives just to eat—but I'm not crazy about people who don't know the difference between a slice of the breast, thank you, with plenty of dressing and fragrant gravy enough to cover it, and some mean little skinny scrap of ought-to-be and isn't-do you?

People who don't know enough to be hungry once in a while and glad to see a good dinner on the table, are either ill, poor things—or worse.

When I want to borrow money I ask a man who looks as if he knew when dinner-time came.

But there's a lot to Thanksgiving without eating—a whole lot! Let's find that in the day—the rest of it, the simple, hearty joy in simple, hearty things!

For, after all, when everything is said and done, what is there in life like getting tired—and resting—getting hungry—and eating, getting lonely—and finding friends, getting discouraged—and taking heart again?

Why, it's all a game, this thing of living, just a big game! And some of us hold good hands and some hold bad, but after all, it depends upon the way we play—whether we win or not.

Let's be thankful for being young—the joy and the hope of life is before us.

Let's be thankful for being old—the agony and the defeat of life is behind us.

Let's be thankful for all we have suffered and all we have endured in patience and in courage.

Let's be thankful for good friends, for honest love, for the light touch of a child's hand upon the cheek, for the faculty of appreciation—that most of all.

It's a short road we travel, take it which way we will, so let's sing along the way, you and I, and—

Let's begin the song with Thanksgiving.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By JEANNETTE YOUNG NORTON

The Authority on Home Cooking

Six Delicious Recipes for Thanksgiving Candies.

HOME-MADE candy is always a treat if well made and it is cheaper, to make than to buy it. Besides, there are the old-fashioned candies that just seem to go with this festival.

While fresh, good materials are required for this sort of candy-making, the more elaborate utensils and fixings are not needed. The candy cook as a rule has to work fast, so she should make sure that all the ingredients are likely to be at hand before she begins.

If she is going to cook over gas, it is a wise idea to cover the boiler with asbestos paper. An enameled saucepan is less likely to burn than the thinner aluminum ones.

Quick Butter Scotch. Put three cups of brown sugar into a saucepan with four ounces of butter, a teaspoonful of lemon juice and a half-cupful of water. Heat then boil gently until it forms a soft ball in cold water. Turn into a shallow buttered pan and mark in squares while warm.

A Rich Fudge. Put two cups of sugar into a saucepan and add a half-cupful of unsweetened chocolate, a half-cupful of butter, a teaspoonful of salt. Cook until a little firmer on a cold plate. Then add a small cupful of chopped nuts and a teaspoonful of vanilla. Turn into a buttered pan and mark off in squares before it gets cool.

Powder and Ranges. After all, are only meant to hide blemishes of a once lovely skin. For a time they may hide them effectively, then the powder and rouge become injurious to the complexion and separate ways. So instead of blemishes being hidden, they multiply.

I have often heard experts on diet say that they can look at a woman's complexion and tell her what's the matter with her diet, and what kind of foods she's most fond of.

Blackheads and greasy skin and pimples are unattractive to talk about. It's true, but think how much more unattractive they are to count. And the disconcerting part, as many a distressed woman has told me, is that they creep up

YOUR HEALTH

Why Hardening of Arteries Is the Penalty for Excesses

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D. Commissioner of Health, New York City

HIGH blood-pressure and hardening of the arteries are frequently associated, but they are not one and the same thing by any means.

Normally the walls of the blood-vessels are soft and elastic. When you place your fingers on the pulse at the wrist, the normal artery is yielding to the touch. It feels not unlike a piece of soft tubing.

In disease the vessel walls become hardened, stiff and unyielding. Under the fingers they feel like whip-cord.

The change is not unlike the effect of time upon a plumbing system. The pipes become encrusted and occluded. Their calibre is reduced accordingly.

Deposits occur on the lining membranes of the blood-vessels, and gradually the changes described take place. Thus develops arteriosclerosis.

These changes in the arteries interfere with the circulation of the blood. This in turn affects the heart and ultimately, by confining the blood within a lessened space, the blood-pressure is increased.

With the hardening of the blood-vessel walls naturally there comes greater resistance to the possibility of breaking. Add to the weakening of the containers, greater pressure of the contents, and it will be seen at once there is imminent danger of breaks in the wall and escape of the blood into the outside tissues. In arteriosclerosis this is what happens, so hemorrhages into the retina of the eye or into the brain substance are liable to take place.

Besides advanced age, there are many diseases which cause arteriosclerosis. It is generally assumed that systematic indulgence in alcohol have been a fruitful cause.

Bright's disease and arteriosclerosis appear to be Siamese twins. One is rare without the other.

DEPOSED PREACHER OPPOSES LITERAL BIBLE ACCEPTANCE

LINCOLN, Nov. 29.—"How I Lost My Job as a Preacher" is the title of a booklet which has started an argument in Methodist Church circles. The row that inspired the booklet already has stirred members of the sect somewhat in this state.

Dr. J. D. M. Buckner, retired minister, of Aurora, Neb., is the author. He was placed on the retired list at the last district conference of the Methodist Church at Omaha. Relegation to the pension ranks was without his consent.

Dismissal followed a conference address in which Dr. Buckner set forth some startlingly liberal views on interpretation of the Bible. Among other things, the preacher told the conference well-balanced men couldn't be expected to accept every word of the Bible as divine inspiration. His utterances, the conference decided, were dangerously near heresy.

In his booklet, which Dr. Buckner says, will be sent to every Methodist in the United States, the ex-preacher asks:

"Do you accept in toto the 'bear story' of old Elisha?"

The author then invites Methodists who do not believe that God sent two who bears to eat up forty children who had called Elisha an "old bald head" to come into camp—a liberal camp. Those who believe God caused this clean-up of hard-boiled youngsters of Biblical days, Dr. Buckner says, should stick around with the "old fogies" who have faith in prayers to lengthen skirts and roll flapper stockings above the knees. These, he says, should form the conservative or stand-pat camp of the Church.

The ex-preacher demands a hearing on heresy charges and insists he has more good sermons left in his system "than two-thirds of the young present-day graduates of theological seminaries."

Dr. Buckner promises soon to outline plans for a "New Methodism."

DEMOCRACY FAILS, BUT PULL SUCCEEDS

CINCINNATI, Nov. 29.—Jim Nolan, Fort Thomas, Ky., war veteran who was discharged from Walter Reed hospital on a total disability basis and refused reenlistment in the army which he had served faithfully for 25 years although he appealed personally to the adjutant general to help him to get in, is back in olive drab once more.

In despair over his lack of luck, he remembered that during the battle of Soissons he hustled Lieut. Col. Theodore Roosevelt off to a hospital when he was wounded and probably saved his life.

A letter to the colonel recalled the incident and the answer was an order from the war department authorizing the recruiting officer here to accept him.

TRAFFIC MAY USE NEW CEMENT BASE

CANADIAN MOVE TO ESTABLISH EMBASSY IN U. S. FORESEEN IN M'KENZIE-KING OVERTURES

Actual Object of His Recent Visit Not German To Rush-Bagot Agreement, But To Pave Way For Diplomatic Envoy Here

BY HARRY L. ROGERS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—The ways of diplomacy are deep, dark and mysterious.

When Prime Minister Mackenzie-King, of Canada, paid a personal visit to Washington some months ago there was a good deal of speculation. The Premier himself announced that he was here to discuss with Secretary of State Hughes, the possibility of bringing up-to-date the Rush-Bagot Agreement, which provides for practical disarmament on the Great Lakes.

Inasmuch as the Rush-Bagot Agreement has worked very satisfactorily for more than a hundred years, it was not entirely clear just why it should be replaced. Nevertheless everyone was glad Mr. Mackenzie-King had come to the United States.

It was noted at the time that the Premier put up at a local hotel, not the embassy. President Harding met Premier Mackenzie-King, and Secretary Hughes conferred with him for nearly an hour. Following the conference it was stated that the Premier's proposal had been sympathetically received.

The conviction that the Rush-Bagot Agreement was not uppermost in Premier Mackenzie-King's mind at the time of his visit has been in the months that have elapsed.

Now it is beginning to dawn upon official Washington that, wittingly or unwittingly, Premier Mackenzie-King accomplished a great deal more by his Washington trip than a mere academic discussion of an antiquated treaty. As a matter of fact, the Canadian statesman accomplished nothing short of the establishment of a precedent for direct diplomatic negotiations between the United States and Canada.

MOVE FOR EMBASSY

This precedent has served him in good stead in the plan for accrediting a permanent Canadian Minister to Washington. This proposal for direct diplomatic representation is most distasteful to the British government, despite the recent announcement by Sir Auckland Geddes, the British Ambassador here, that he was not opposed to the plan.

All Britishers with a pride in the British Empire feel that to inaugurate a regime of direct negotiation between the various dominions and foreign governments would be a dangerous step in the direction of dissolution of the Empire. Nevertheless, pressure from Canada has been such that the British government has been forced to give ground, with the result that it has advanced several compromise propositions.

One of these is that the Canadian representative at Washington should be a kind of Vice British Ambassador, having quarters in the British Embassy and, perhaps, acting for the Ambassador in his absence. This plan is not satisfactory to the Canadians, who want a Minister distinct and separate from the British Ambassador, with a headquarters of his own. Another compromise suggested is that the Canadian representative be a kind of high commissioner. This, also, is unsatisfactory to Canada.

U. S. IMPARTIAL

The attitude of the United States toward the whole matter is one of gracious receptivity. This Government would welcome a Canadian diplomatic representative, but believes any move in that direction must come from Canada or Great Britain. Appointment of a Canadian Minister, however, would not necessarily be followed by appointment of an American Minister to Ottawa, it is stated officially.

Information here indicates that Premier Mackenzie-King is acting in a very tactful manner. He is understood to be a hearty supporter of the St. Lawrence waterways project, but is forced to move slowly because of opposition from Eastern Canada, particularly in the city of Montreal, which, like New York, believes the project will lessen its business and prestige. On the other hand, central and Western Canada are very strong for the waterways, just as the West and Middle West of the United States are in favor of them.

To offset Eastern opposition Mackenzie-King plans, according to apparently reliable information here, to name some outstanding leader, with a following in Eastern Canada, as the first Minister to Washington. Among those said to be regarded with favor are the Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, formerly prominent in the Laurier Cabinet, and Sir Conin Lomer, former Governor of Quebec.

Receipt of a note from Berlin, informing the reparations commission that Germany must have a moratorium of from three to four years during which all payments under the treaty of Versailles shall be suspended, has aroused resentment and predictions were made that France would prepare at once to seize the Ruhr and discuss it afterwards.

Plans for the military extension in the Rhine and expelling the German administrative officials and replacing them with French, are discussed in the morning papers.

The Brussels conference next month may not be held. In the event it is called off or put over until next year, there is little doubt that France would assume a most aggressive attitude in her desire to control the Ruhr coal fields.

Coal hungry coal barons in France are bringing strong pressure on Poincare to get French troops into the Ruhr. They are recalling that M. Poincare, before his elevation to the Prime Ministership was one of the most ardent advocates of the seizure of the Ruhr. They now demand the premier fulfill his promises.

FRENCH TO OCCUPY RUHR BASIN COAL FIELDS, IS REPORT

PARIS, Nov. 28.—The French cabinet is reported to have given its approval today to proposals for occupation of additional German territory by French troops to enforce all the clauses of the Versailles treaty, particularly those relating to indemnity.

When the cabinet met with Premier Poincare presiding, it was understood that the question of extending French military occupation on the Rhenland would be considered.

The German coal fields in the Ruhr basin, which France covets so hungrily to make up for her own coal fields ruined in the war, formed the background today for French press comment upon the Mosul Oil negotiations in the Near East.

Marshal Poch's presence at a conference of President Millerand and Premier Poincare has aroused much speculation as to France's next move on the Rhine, in connection with the indemnity tangle.

RUTH'S RECORD THIS SEASON IS NOT BAD

Nearly As Successful As In 1921. Many Suspensions Affected Total

ALWAYS TRIED FOR HOMERS

Main Trouble Lay In His Failure to Hit One And Two Baggers Occasionally

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Before the worthy Mr. Ruth sinks for the third and last time into temporary oblivion down on the farm, it might not be at all remiss to state that our dear, old fat friend was made the victim of a fallacy in the general condemnation of his hitting last season. This much to give the gentleman his due.

It was openly charged and generally accepted as fact that Ruth was a "bust" in home run hitting, the belief being based on the fact that he hit only 35 homers against 59 in 1921. The fact of the matter is that Ruth enjoyed almost as much success in hitting home runs last season as he ever did before. Where he was a distinct "bust" was in his gratuitous misbehavior on the ball field, his lack of condition, his failure to field up to his 1921 form and his lack of consistency in hitting.

So far as home runs were concerned he nearly succeeded in keeping pace with previous records. Appearing in only 110 games, because of numerous suspensions for one thing or another, he hit 35 homers for an average of one in every 3.14 games. In 1920 he smote 54 in 140 games and in 1921 it was 59 for 153 games, an average of something like one for every 2.59 games. The difference is not great enough to condemn a man as a "bust" offhand and without further ado.

What was really missing and what made Ruth a pronounced failure in the world series was his inability to come through with ordinary base hits. Swinging from his shoofarps at all times, it was either a case of a home run or a strike out. Unfortunately, it was mostly the latter in the big series. In fact, he got only two hits in five games, and neither of them bore even a faint resemblance to a home run.

double in an occasional pinch his failure to hit them out of the park might have been remarked upon, but the effect would have been negligible.

The sense of the whole proposition is that too much emphasis was laid upon Ruth's ability to hit them beyond the fences. Unquestionably his home runs drove in many tallies and won quite a few ball games. But Ruth's real value to the team lay in his menace to the opposing defense and in the fact that he was a 360 hitter. This latter meant that he was cutting out a few singles and doubles of no doubtful value.

Last season his average fell off considerably—much more so, in fact, than his comparative dearth of homers, for which he was so roundly reviled. His fielding, likewise, suffered a bad rally, as the fellow said.

These defections cost the Yankees more heavily than the mere difference involved in the matter of whether he smote one homer in every 2.59 games or one for every 3.14 games.

"STILL" UNEARTHED 50 FT UNDERGROUND

Subterranean Booze Factory Is Entered By Way Of Old Well Shaft

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 29.—The "unearthing" of a giant whiskey distillery, fifty feet below the surface of the ground accessible only through a well by a rope ladder, on a farm near here broke all records for the unusual in the annals of the whiskey squad of the county police.

The discovery was brought about when the owner of the farm repaired the top of the old well shaft. Police thought it strange that the old well was so carefully tended and began an investigation. They lowered themselves by the rope ladder and discovered a tunnel in the side of the well about fifty feet below the surface. Through this they went and suddenly dropped into the underground room.

The room was about fourteen feet square, in which was installed a sixty-gallon still from which a big run had just been made. Six hundred gallons of beer, fermenting and in preparation for another run, also was there.

A pipe from the still was extended

LESS MEAT IF BACK AND KIDNEYS HURT

Take a glass of Salts to flush Kidneys if Bladder bothers you.

Eating too much meat may produce kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the ureic acid excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleepless nights, bladder and urinary irritation, and all sorts of ailments.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so that it is no longer irritating, thus often ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delicious effervescent, lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders.

an unlimited field for today.

Hundreds of such amendments may be introduced, each requiring a record vote upon supported demands from the minority.

Leaders of the filibuster, it was learned, plan to alternate these proposed amendments to the journal with motions to adjourn and quorum calls, thus forcing an almost continuous calling of the senate roll.

The use of the journal in a fil-buster is without precedent in the senate's history as filibusters were always staged by continuous speeches.

As an indication of the delay on the first day there were four quorum calls and seven roll calls, involving the calling of 1,500 names by the senate reading clerk. Not a single bill was introduced, nor a single majority motion made. No confidential appointments were confirmed, and all routine legislation was effectively blocked and the passing of an appropriation for the widow of the late Senator Watson, Democrat of Georgia, was even refused.

Without doubt, the bill has en-dered the bitterest antagonism among the minority that has existed in the senate in many years. The measure would provide for federal intervention in states where local authorities either fail to prevent a lynching or fail to apprehend its perpetrators. It would provide for the arrest and punishment of all peace officers who fail in their duty to prevent the lynching and would permit the claim persons famously a $10,000 forfeit from the county in which the lynching occurred.

The Democrats oppose the bill on the ground that it violates the constitution and as an invasion of state rights.

WILLARD DEMANDS ANOTHER CHANCE WITH CHAMPION

If Dempsey Refuses, Says He'll Begin Campaign To Force A Match

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29. — If Jack Dempsey does not agree to meet Jess Willard when he meets with the former champion at Los Angeles soon, Willard plans a campaign to force Dempsey meet him, he declared here today.

Thru his publicity agent, Gene Doyle, Jess Willard denied the reports from Buffalo that he had agreed to accept a match with Floyd Johnson, the bout to be staged by Charles Murray of Buffalo.

"Some time ago Jess received an offer of a match with Johnson," said Doyle. "He turned the offer over to me and I wrote Murray thanking him for the offer and informing him Willard would do nothing about a re-appearance in the ring until he knows definitely about another match with Dempsey."

Willard is doing light training and will increase his work gradually. He figures that in two or three weeks time he will be close to the form he attained last July and believes that in that condition he can make Dempsey see the advisability of a return match.

"There are just two things for Dempsey to do—either give me a match or run," said Willard. "I am entitled to another bout and if he doesn't give it me willingly, I will map out a campaign that will force him into it."

M'SWINEY HUNGER STRIKE ENDS WITH RELEASE OF MARY

DUBLIN, Nov. 29. — Mary MacSwiney was released from Mount Joy prison at the end of the twenty-third day of her spectacular hunger strike of protest against the Free State government. She and her sister Annie, who has stood on hunger strike vigil at the gates of the prison for eleven days were both in the hospital today recovering from the effect of their long period of self imposed starvation.

Attending physicians admit that the health of both women had suffered severely, but said they believed they would both recover. Annie ceased her strike as soon as she learned of Mary's release.

The Free State military authorities have undertaken a new drive against women sympathizers of the rebels. Forty women prisoners were brot into Dublin today from the south and southwest.

Eamonn DeValera remains in hiding and his supporters have made no move toward reprisals for the execution of Dr. E. J. Connelley.

William T. Cosgrave, president of the Dail Eireann, is entirely satisfied with improvement in conditions. He predicted today that the Free State would be peaceful by the first of January.

"Numerous captures of Republican irregular leaders are being made in all quarters," said Cosgrave.

Asked if there would be any more executions, the head of the Free State replied: "There may be. It is uncertain. The severe punishment meted out to rebel offenders apparently has had a good effect."

The Dublin government has suppressed a statement given out by the Republicans which was reported to threaten death to all members of the Dail Eireann who voted in favor of giving the military courts power to impose death sentences.

Fat Man Who Blocked Jail Escape Unpopular with Men Behind Him

EL BROOK, Tex., Nov. 29. — Prisoners confined in the county jail, heading the call of the "great outdoors," managed to "crash" a hole in the steel door of their cell. Then this lot of them escaped.

A look for the rotund H. W. Spradling, who was next in line to be stuck in the hole, could make headway neither forward nor backward, and was found firmly fastened and nearly frozen to death by the sheriff the next morning.

Spradling is decidedly unpopular with those who were behind him in line.

THREE INJURED STREET CAR CRASH

CLEVELAND, Nov. 29. — Three persons were seriously injured and a score or more badly shaken up when two street cars collided in east 55th-st at Carnegieav this morning.

Both cars were northbound. The leading car had stopped at Carnegie to unload and take on passengers when the second car's brakes refused to work, owing to the slippery condition of the rails and the car crashed thru the rear vestibule. The injured passengers were in the rear car.

SEEK WOMAN WHO POISONED MAN IN L. ANGELES HOTEL

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29.—In an effort to solve the most mysterious poisoning case they have ever been called on to deal with, police today sought for a "woman in the case."

Vaden Elwynn Voge, 22 years old, war veteran of Hillsboro, Ore., is dead, the victim of a powerful poison.

"I've been poisoned; 2 get me a doctor," were his dying and only words.

He staggered from a fourth floor room at the fashionable Alexandria hotel where early yesterday he had registered for Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Voge, and told the clerk his wife would arrive later in the day.

So far as hotel authorities know, Mrs. Voge never arrived. But luncheon for two had been served in the room by a waiter on telephonic orders from Voge shortly before he staggered into the hall, late yesterday and called for aid. The waiter saw no second person in the room when he served the lunch. Two chairs were drawn up to the tray, however, investigators found coffee had been poured into two cups. One was half full; the other drained to the bottom. It was in this cup, police believe, the powerful poison which caused almost instant death was placed.

The murder theory is based on the possibility that a second person—probably a woman—was present in the room of Voge and partook of the luncheon with him. Authorities are mystified, if such was the case, by the manner the person could have left the room. There is no direct exit except the hallway and Voge's screams at once attracted attendants who say no one left the room.

TEST VOTE SHOWS A MAJORITY FOR THE SHIP BILL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29. — The first test vote on the administration's subsidy bill taken in the house yesterday afternoon showed 132 to 93 in favor of the merchant marine legislation.

The test was made when Representative Davis, Democrat of Tennessee, moved to strike out those provisions of the bill providing financial aid and assistance for American ships.

The fact that 132 votes were recorded against Davis' motion is an indication that the vote on final roll call will show a substantial majority for the bill, it is claimed by administration leaders.

DAVIS TO URGE ABOLITION OF DEATH PENALTY

Will Also Recommend Four-Year Terms For Gov., Other Offices

COLUMBUS, Nov. 29.—It is reported Governor Davis, in his forthcoming message to the state legislature which convenes early in January will recommend abolition of capital punishment and will urge adoption of an amendment to the state constitution fixing the terms of office for governor, secretary of state, treasurer, attorney general and lieutenant governor at four years and confining each officer to one term.

The governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, treasurer and attorney general are now elected to two-year terms, but ordinarily are nominated for a second term. The term of state auditor is four years.

Governor Davis has repeatedly voiced his opposition to the death penalty.

NANCY JORDAN FINDS HOME FOR BABY AND SELF; IS GRATEFUL

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Nancy Jordan, the little London mother and her three-and-a-half-year-old baby Francis, who faced deportation from Ellis Island on account of the boy's illegitimacy, are today safe here under the mothering protection of Mrs. Mary Vastrump Warren, of Kansas City, Mo., who offered them a home and was directly responsible for their coming to America.

Mrs. Warren, divorced wife of Frank G. Warren, prominent Kansas City attorney and who had met Miss Jordan in Europe during the war and introduced her two by means of correspondence arrived here last night from Washington and hurried to greet her wards for the first time.

The meeting took place in the home of R. D. Jenkins, Mrs. Warren's attorney and friend, who signed the bonds for the newcomers' release from the immigration headquarters. The two women, both young and high types of their respective country's beauty greeted each other with affection and cordiality as if they had been lifelong friends.

"I am so glad to meet you, Nancy," said Mrs. Warren. "I am very glad also," said Nancy, a bit shy, her eyes brimming with tears as they both embraced.

Francis, a toy accordion clutched tightly in both hands lay sleeping in a bed nearby. Mrs. Warren kissed him and whispered "what a beautiful child."

STANDARD OIL CO. DENIED SUBSIDY BY AMENDMENT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Standard oil tankers and others which carry the manufactured articles of the products of their owners will be denied a subsidy under the terms of amendment offered by Representative Edmonds, Republican, of Pennsylvania and adopted by an overwhelming majority. The amendment was proposed to meet the demands of the opposition to the bill.

The farm bloc suffered a defeat when a proposal by Representative Dickinson, Republican, of Iowa, that 25 per cent of all freight rates on export consignments be refunded to the shippers was ruled out on a point of order.

B. & O. FIREMAN KILLED IN WRECK

DAYTON, O., Nov. 29. — One man was killed and two were hurt, one probably fatally, when the boiler of the locomotive hauling an extra freight train on the Baltimore & Ohio R. R. this morning, exploded near Kilcare Park, east of Dayton.

The dead man is Ed. Kimmear, Dayton, the fireman; the injured are Harry Sifford, Dayton, engineer, terribly burned and not expected to live; Charles Brown, Dayton, head brakeman, burned and one arm broken, expected to recover.

CONDITIONS FOR RECOGNITION OF RUSSIA OUTLINED

LONDON, Nov. 29. — Recognition of the Russian national debt, restitution of private property, nationalized by Moscow and cessation of Bolshevik propaganda outside of Russia are the three conditions upon which Great Britain will recognize Soviet Russia, Premier Bonar Law informed the house of commons this afternoon.

BRITAIN CUTS

The military tribunal created by the Greek revolutionary committee.

Further executions are expected. The first secretary of the British legation and C. H. Bentinck, British member of the financial control commission, are remaining here.

The bodies of the six former officials shot to death Tuesday by a firing squad of gendarmes have been turned over to their families. They are: Former Premier Gonaris, former Premier Protopapadakis, former Minister of Interior Stratos, former Foreign Minister Baltazis, former War Minister Theotokis and General Madjanestis, commander in chief of the Greek army in Asia Minor.

All took their fate bravely. Hadjanestis wept when the verdict was read degrading him, but he quickly recovered his composure.

When Baltazis learned that his sentence was death by shooting he removed his monocle, drew a silk handkerchief from his pocket and nervously polished the glass.

M. Gournaris, one of the best known and most influential of modern Greek statesmen, next to Eleutherios Venizelos, sat huddled up in his chair wearing his overcoat collar turned up. He remained impassive thruout the proceedings.

All the prisoners were pale and haggard for the sessions of the court had been long and arduous. They got practically no sleep on Monday night.

E. C. Caffery, first secretary of the American legation, attempted to intercede for the lives of the condemned men with members of the new cabinet headed by Premier Gonatas. Mr. Caffery was informed that the proceedings had been undertaken by the Greek revolutionary commission which had created and invested the military court with power. The cabinet members said they were virtually powerless.

On account of the feeling created by the sensational executions the president of the martial court issued a statement defending the death sentences.

"These terrorist traitors," said the statement, "knowingly attempted to strengthen the throne under Constantine in order to enjoy public office. They used terrorist methods to stifle opposition and they betrayed the people."

In view of the fact that Great Britain and America have filed protests against the executions, it is expected that other nations will do likewise.
